

STREET RAILWAY SERVICE CHANGED

Preparedness Parade Occupying Avenue Necessitates Route Revision.

Due to the closing of Pennsylvania avenue during the passing of the preparedness parade today, there will be certain interruptions and changes of the street car service from 9 o'clock in the morning until the end of the parade.

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday afternoon approved the following changes in the usual schedule:

The Capital Traction Company: On Pennsylvania avenue, from First and B street southeast, and Delaware avenue and B street northeast, to Twenty-sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, the service will be suspended.

The Seventh street line will cross Pennsylvania avenue as usual.

The Fourteenth street line will turn back at Fifteenth street and New York avenue northwest. The F and G street lines will be operated as far east as Seventeenth street.

The Ninth street line will be operated south of Pennsylvania avenue to the wharf by way of Four-and-a-half street, north of Pennsylvania avenue, from Ninth and E streets northwest, to the regular terminals and return.

The Fourth street line will be operated south of Pennsylvania avenue on Fourteenth street to the wharf and return, and north of Pennsylvania avenue from Fourth and G streets northwest, to the regular terminal and return.

PRESIDENTIAL YACHT CAUSES MAN'S DEATH

(By the Sun News Service.)

Tarrytown, N. Y., June 13.—Waves from the President's yacht, the Mayflower, were the indirect cause of the death of Charles Byström, 24 years old, steward of the Tarrytown Yacht Club, this afternoon shortly after the President's yacht passed Tarrytown on its way from West Point to New York.

Byström dove into the Hudson for a swim. When he came up near the float the waves from the yacht rocked it so that he was struck a glancing blow on the head and rendered partly senseless. The shock and the coldness of the water are supposed to have given him cramps, for he sank almost immediately and was drowned.

District Primaries Scored By Former Senator Butler

Says Last Republican Contest Was Worse Than Anything "Possible in the Backwoods."

Declaring the Republican primaries in the "shadow of the Capitol were more corrupt than would be possible in any backwoods town," ex-Senator Marion Butler, of North Carolina, last night petitioned the Washington Chamber of Commerce to urge corrective legislation upon Congress. He recommended that the law and legislation committee of the chamber investigate the advisability of Congressional supervision of District primaries. His suggestion was adopted.

Mr. Butler said he was "sickened and appalled" by the corruption displayed in the local Republican primaries. He deplored racially-mixed delegations to national conventions and urged that an educational restriction be placed upon voters.

The question of suffrage for the District, which assumes more or less of a routine characteristic in civic bodies, enlivened the chamber's meeting last night because of the presence of a woman suffragist, Miss Mary O'Toole, lawyer, president of the College Equal Suffrage Association and a member of the chamber. The part Miss O'Toole took in the discussion created such partisanship that the consideration was prolonged and the president, P. T. Moran, kept his gavel working continuously.

Parliamentary tacticians met in forensic tilts over a resolution "resolving the chamber was, at the moment, ready to take a stand upon woman suffrage."

Suffrage Turned Down.

But the conservatives thought the chamber was not and said so before the only woman member they have seen in months. They succeeded, after half an hour's fighting, in clearing parliamentary obstacles thrown in their way.

A committee, composed of Dr. Lewis J. Duff, Isaac Gans and A. L. Sinclair, appointed to investigate co-operative buying association composed of District building employees, reported against complaints made by the Retail Grocers' Association that the association, because it was a private enterprise, should not have headquarters in the District Building. The committee declared the activities of the association were limited.

A. L. Sinclair, chairman of the committee arranging the chamber's outing at Chesapeake Beach, reported all the details of the excursion were complete. Charles Hower, chairman of the subcommittee on music for the outing, talked of the musical features for the day.

IDEA OF PARADE BORN AT DINNER

Newspaper Men Discuss Plans, Which Are Adopted by Business Men of City.

"Who started this preparedness parade, anyway?"

This question is passing through the minds of hundreds of residents of the District this morning, as they wend their way down town to view the spectacle to which all Washington has been looking forward for two weeks.

It would probably require a rigid investigation to determine in what mind the germ of the idea was born, for the parade was first mentioned during an after-dinner discussion of newspapermen. Little did they dream that the idea mentioned at that discussion would grow into one of the biggest celebrations in the city's history.

The idea was passed on to some of the leading merchants of the city, who took it up in earnest and held an informal meeting in the Star Building on the afternoon of Friday, June 2.

Plan of parade was hastily mapped out, and William F. Guide, elected chairman of the executive committee, with Charles J. Columbus as secretary.

Plan Develops Fast.

In the two weeks at their disposal, however, this Guide-Columbus combination went far beyond the expectations of even the most optimistic members. On Monday, June 4, offices were established in the Star Building, a corps of stenographers employed, telephone service installed, and line movement went forward with leaps and bounds, until today the entire city is talking and thinking preparedness.

Others who worked to make the parade a success were A. Leftwich Sinclair, chairman of the committee on law and legislation, who waged a fight to the finish in Congress to secure the passage of a resolution making the day a legal holiday; Isaac Gans, official censor of the parade, who arranged the floats and saw that no advertisements or undignified demonstrations were entered; O. J. De Moll, chairman of the committee on music, and Maj. Pullman, chairman of the public order committee.

Other members of the executive committee were Odell S. Smith, Edwin C. Brandenburg, P. T. Moran, R. P. Andrews, Edward F. Colladay, Thomas Grant, Robert N. Harper, C. Fred Cook and M. W. Lynch.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad sends out a special baggage car each spring loaded with plants for flower beds at about 150 different stations on its line. It employs a chief gardener to direct this work of beautifying its grounds in these various towns and cities.

HOUSE DEFENSE BILL IS READY

Measure Carries $35,000,000 for Fortifications, Establishing New Records.

The House yesterday completed consideration of the fortifications appropriation bill, carrying a total of $35,000,000, the largest in the history of the country for this purpose. The final vote was postponed until next Tuesday, owing to the absence of so many members of both parties at the convention.

Also, a separate vote will be taken on a pending amendment to prohibit the use of stop orders in government contracts and all factories where government work is done.

In the debate yesterday Chairman Sherley explained why the measure carried no provision for the "big Bertha" or "mother" type of howitzer used by the British.

"Heretofore," said Mr. Sherley, "the largest gun we have built for field service has been a 10-inch howitzer. Most of the guns we have built have been 8-inch guns. The 3-inch gun was, prior to the breaking out of the European war, perhaps the most important field weapon."

"It is still so considered when the war is of a mobile character, but the European warfare very rapidly degenerated after the course of the first few days from a mobile warfare into a trench warfare."

"While the 3-inch and other light guns were sufficient to clear away the ordinary obstructions, such as barbed wire entanglements, they were not sufficient to obliterate absolutely the trenches so as to destroy the men who were in them."

"As a result of that, the Germans who had built very heavy siege guns, presumably for the destruction of land fortifications, proceeded to use these siege guns against the trenches. The allies in turn have, so far as they have been able to supply themselves with heavy ordnance, been using such heavy ordnance guns in their trench warfare."

"In my judgment, it is not at all certain that we will ever want in America anything like the extremely heavy guns that the Germans use. We probably will want a gun of about 9 inches or better, with a projectile weighing at least 100 pounds. That would be sufficient to destroy trenches and inasmuch as we do not need guns to destroy land fortifications such as the Germans need, we would have to go to the higher types."

TANLAC CARGOING SHIP IN A SOUTH AMERICAN PORT

VEGETABLE INGREDIENTS ARE DRAWN FROM REMOTEST PARTS OF THE WORLD

Master Medicine Made Pure, Bottled Pure and Keeps Always.

In many portions of South America, herbs, roots, barks and flowers are being gathered for the compounding of Tanlac. Caribbea, the dark-skinned sailorman of the Caribbean Sea, whose guttural dialect has no alphabet, paddle their canoes loaded with herbs gathered in the foothills of Spanish Honduras, alongside the big freighters, and other bronze men come down the mountains with their mule caravans with barks and flowers found high above the clouds. In the port of Buenos Aires, far below the equator, and to Panama at the Isthmus, natives bring the Tanlac ingredients for shipment to the United States.

And so are other men laboring in various remote sections of the globe to bring to America the products for Tanlac. From their tasks, accomplished often at the risk of life and limb, more than one and one-half million Americans have benefited.

History shows that there was little sickness during the term of civilization we refer to as the "dark ages." Many reasons have been advanced for this, the majority of scientists, however, contending that herbs, roots and barks and flowers were the preventive of ailments during that period. The originators of Tanlac worked on this theory in the compounding of this tonic, and the result is that Tanlac is a reconstructive compound of purely vegetable subjects.

Brought to the principal Tanlac laboratories, these herbs are compounded with absolute accuracy so as to obtain the high standard of efficiency that is maintained in the preparation of the Master Medicine. Tanlac is placed in sterilized bottles, and is not bothered with gas on her inspection before being finally placed in bottles and crates for shipment. Tanlac is bottled pure and keeps pure always.

THANKFUL TO TANLAC FOR MOTHER'S RELIEF

Mrs. Clifton, 75 Years Old, Gets Wonderful Results from Master Medicine.

Decided to Take Tanlac on Advice of Friends Who Had Used It with Good Results.

"My mother is 75 years old, you know, and she has used four bottles of Tanlac with wonderful results." Thus spoke Charles E. Clifton, of 230 Riverside avenue, Scotia, N. Y. He is a machinist at the General Electric Company of Schenectady, N. Y. He had heard such wonderful stories about Tanlac that he decided to have his mother try it. In continuing his conversation, he said:

"My mother suffered from stomach trouble. Everything she ate would form gas on her stomach which caused her a great deal of pain. It was so severe that she used to be awakened in the middle of the night by it and would suffer for hours. She was almost afraid to eat anything. In fact, she had a very little appetite. She tried several other medicines but got no relief until she began to take Tanlac."

"I asked her to try it because we had used the testimonials in the papers of so many people we knew who had used it and got good results. I am glad she followed my advice, for the first bottle has benefited her. Her appetite has improved and she has got great relief from her pains. The food seems to be digested and she is not bothered with gas on her stomach any more. We are very happy that she tried it because her general condition is fine now and she feels good."

A HAPPY DREAM COME TRUE

Schenectady Woman Now Well and About After Long Illness.

CONFINED ALL WINTER Gives Tanlac Entire Credit for Her Wonderful Cure.

To be a sufferer from stomach trouble for many years and to bear all the torments that this common ailment causes and then to be benefited almost over night is like a happy dream come true. This has been the pleasant experience of Mrs. E. Quick, who resides just out of Schenectady, N. Y., on Rural Route, No. 4. All winter she had been confined to her home, and last week, for the first time, she was able to be out. She thanks Tanlac for her wonderful cure. In speaking of her trouble, she said:

"I suffered all winter from indigestion and stomach trouble, which was a real case of gastric catarrh of the stomach. At times it affected me so badly that I thought I would die. Pains used to get me in the stomach and seemed to go through my whole system. I lost my strength and couldn't leave the house all winter."

"I tried several medicines, but got no results. My daughter finally insisted on my trying Tanlac and as soon as I began to take it I noticed an improvement. My pains disappeared and my stomach is in good condition now, and I feel very good, and I have only taken one bottle so far. Today is the first time I have been out in months, and I give Tanlac the credit for my wonderful cure."

MEASURE WOULD LIMIT ELIGIBILITY OF JUDGES

Senator Thomas of Colorado, Democrat, introduced in the Senate a resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution that would make judges of Federal courts ineligible for an elective office, until two years after their retirement.

This resolution followed St. Louis agitation for a plank in the Democratic platform to that effect. The resolution was referred to the judiciary committee. If the Democratic leaders should attempt to pass this resolution for whatever political effect it might have, they will find a determined fight on their hands. Under the press of public business before the Senate it is not believed action could be had at this session of Congress.

The amendment would add a second section to Article III of the Constitution, reading as follows: "No judge of the Supreme Court or of any inferior court, now or hereafter ordered and established, shall during his continuance in office, or for a period of two years after such continuance, be qualified for or eligible to any elective office under the Constitution and laws of the United States."

HARMONY UNDISTURBED ON EVE OF CONVENTION

A O. Stanley, of Kentucky, who did the nominating, didn't mean this coming convention, but the one that is to be held four years from now.

The Pennsylvania man, who has no hope of carrying their State, met early in the day and adopted the unit rule, which means that they will vote for Thomas Riley Marshall for Vice President and do any little thing which the President wants them to do.

Stalwart sons of Indiana, led by the noisiest bands that ever assembled, marched down the street this afternoon to the strains of the "Wabash" and decorated the crowded interior of the Jefferson. While the trombone players pushed the crowd to and fro with every low note, the Hoosiers yelled for Marshall at the top of their lungs.

Clash of Superstitions.

Speaking of nominating Friday night or Saturday morning, a curious clash of superstitions has arisen to trouble the convention steering committee.

Most of the leaders do not want the nomination Friday because of the belief that anything launched on that day, whether a ship, a candidate or a business venture, is sure to go on the rocks sooner or later.

Today word came from Washington that Friday has always been the lucky day of the President that he begins all enterprises on Friday, and he prefers Friday to all other days of the week on which to be nominated.

Resplendent Tammanyites Bring Noise for Big Show

By GEORGE T. FRY.

(International News Service.)

St. Louis, Mo., June 13.—Fifty per cent of the noise of the Democratic convention hit the town this afternoon when the Tammany special, comprising the trains over the Pennsylvania, New York Central and Erie roads, came around the tortuous iron pathway that leads into the most hospitable convention city on the map.

Gold-buttoned and bronze-eagled, the braves came along to show four years of absence from the federal lunch counter had still left survivors, who looked like Broadway, felt like Fifth avenue and yet had the wherewithal to make a national gathering of Democrats sit up and take notice.

When the wigwag forces got mixed up with the doings around the Jefferson Hotel, they called for more ice and extra help in the liquid refreshment circles most patronized by the elect.

Charles Francis Murphy, "Al" Smith, the high sheriff of the realm and Senator Robert F. Wagner, who would not take the New York post office on a silver tray, came as the advance guard. They stopped by French Lick Springs to see if Thomas Taggart was thriving properly and then headed for St. Louis in time to form the reception committee for the main body.

Probably the largest gas well ever struck in Oklahoma was brought in recently at Fox pool, south of Cushing, a gusher which now spouts approximately 100,000,000 cubic feet a day, enough for a city of 100,000 people.

Pain in Back or Neck Often Denotes Kidney Weakness

Symptoms of kidney trouble are various, but pain in back of neck and dull, aching feelings in small of back are to be looked for.

Simply by realizing that these distresses are often the onset or signals of kidney trouble it is well to get rid of them immediately by toning the kidneys.

The very best way to do this is by taking a little "Anuric" with hot water before meals. In this way it aids digestion and finally reaches the kidneys, where it has a healing effect.

"Anuric" is endorsed by Dr. Pierce. Many can at once associate Dr. Pierce with his great tonic, "Golden Medical Discovery" and his "Favorite Prescription," universally known as an invigorator for womanly ills.

Kidney, Bladder and Uric Acid troubles bring misery to many. When the kidneys are weak or diseased, these natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness and rheumatism. In some people there are sharp pains in the back and loins, distressing bladder disorders and sometimes obstinate dropsy. The uric acid sometimes forms into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid affects the muscles and joints, it causes lumbago, rheumatism, gout or sciatica.

Send 10c for trial package to Dr. Pierce and prove that "Anuric" is many times more potent than lithia, and that it dissolves uric acid in the system, as hot water does sugar.

Some one daily offers his or her words of praise of "Anuric." Here is what Mr. HENRY A. DORRIS has to say:

"These 'Anuric' tablets sent by you surely are fine. They relieved the pain and weakness in my back within a few days after began using them. The one package relieved me. I have felt fine in that respect ever since. I live on a farm and work every day. Am a man 60 years of age. Had been been troubled with my kidneys for about ten years."

Step in the drug store and get "Anuric," or send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial package.
